Notes for table:

- Self-harm threat to life – Intentional act of harm to oneself which would most probably have led to death if there was no immediate intervention (includes all attempted suicides).
- Self-harm no threat to life – Intentional act of harm to oneself which most probably would not have led to death if there was no immediate intervention.
- The above figures are provided by recorded incidents, not individuals. Some people may therefore be counted more than once.
- Numbers in the current financial year are subject to change until the full year auditing process has been completed.
