Table One: Debit interest charged on ACC levies paid via instalment plans for the last five years

Paid year	Invoice volume	Invoice value	Debit interest value
2020	55,336	$151,892,245.37	$7,527,611.45
2021	48,166	$106,083,469.04	$3,558,932.72
2022	59,581	$178,901,117.65	$4,598,425.46
2023	55,664	$155,586,389.04	$4,026,220.88
2024	51,514	$150,794,670.71	$3,862,190.69

Note: The totals in this table represent fees paid in that financial year, and not the year they were always applied in. It also includes partially paid fees, but excludes any that have not been paid at all. There is likely a small number of files that have been recorded as paid fees where a credit has been applied or transferred to the client's invoice, but the total number of these is believed to be negligible.

Table Two: Updated data for Table 1 contained on page 8 of the Regulatory Impact Statement (RIS), dated 12 April 2023.

	Type of payment plan			Total
	Ten-month	Six- or three-month	No payment plan (annual payment)
Number of plans	46,575	99,880	923,941	1,070,396
Total revenue	$120,909,833.58	$304,046,909.49	$922,393,120.03	$1,347,349,863.10

Note: The numbers above are different from those in the original table in the RIS. This is because the table in the RIS was indicative of a snapshot in time as at February 2023, and did not include late invoice releases, invoice holds and individualised payment plans.
