

Appendix one: The number of women in prison who require mental health services, broken down by prison and security classification.

Table notes:

- The data includes both women who are currently receiving mental health support, as well as those who have had their referral accepted and are waitlisted to receive support.
- The figures provided do not distinguish between those who have a primary mental health need and those who have higher needs.
- The figures also do not include those women who are currently receiving support from Forensic Mental Health Services or ACC (via Sensitive Claims Service).
